Casa Esperanza

Guests at Casa Esperanza

William and his mom have been at Casa Esperanza for the last five weeks while William recovers from his surgery. William is a brave little boy, he had major surgery on both of his hands and his right foot. He is almost fully recovered and he will be able to go home to Panama very soon.

William is a such a sweet 20-month-old little giant. It seems like nothing can stop or limit him; he is always very happy and moving everywhere. They've been coming to visit us on Sundays and we've seen how friendly he is and how much he loves to play with legos.

His mom, Mrs. Rosalinda, says that William is very happy at Casa Esperanza, especially because she is able to cook his favorite food. "It has been nice for us, the adults, as well, because after they go to bed we have time to talk, watch TV and rest like we're in our own home."

Thanks to God for the blessing of serving these people.

A “Note” from the KHCC Music Department

BLESSED ASSURANCE

Frances Ridley Havergal and Frances (Fanny) Crosby never met, but they became dear pen pals—the two most famous women hymnists of their age, the former in England and the latter in America. Havergal once wrote a poem about her American counterpart:

Sweet blind singer over the sea, Tuneful and jubilant! How can it be, That the songs of gladness, which float so far, As if they fell from the evening star, Are the notes of one who may never see ‘Visible music’ of flower and tree...Oh, her heart can see, her heart can see! And its sight is strong and swift and free...

Another of Fanny’s dearest friends was Phoebe Knapp. While Fanny lived in the Manhattan slums and worked in rescue missions, Phoebe lived in the Knapp Mansion, a palatial residence in Brooklyn, where she entertained lavishly. She was an extravagant dresser with a wardrobe full of elaborate gowns and diamond tiaras. Her music room contained one of the finest collections of instruments in the country, and Fanny was a frequent houseguest.

One day in 1873, while Fanny was staying at the Knapp Mansion, Phoebe said she had a tune she wanted to play. Going to the music room, she sat at the piano and played a new composition of her own while the blind hymnist listened. Fanny immediately clapped her hands and exclaimed, “Why, that says, ‘Blessed Assurance!’” She quickly composed the words, and a great hymn was born.

Many years later D. L. Moody was preaching in New York at the 23rd Street Dutch Reformed Church. The Moody/Sankey meetings had popularized Fanny Crosby’s hymns around the world and had made the blind poetess a household name. But whenever she attended a Moody/Sankey meeting, she refused to be recognized, disavowing acclaim.

This day the church was so crowded she could find nowhere to sit. Moody’s son, Will, seeing her, offered to find her a seat. To her bewilderment, he led her onto the platform just as the crowd was singing “Blessed Assurance.” Moody, Sr.’ jumped to his feet, raised his hand, and interrupted the singing. “Praise the Lord!” He shouted. “Here comes the authoress!”

Fanny took her seat amid thunderous ovation, humbly thanking God for making her a blessing to so many.
