KHCC Casa Esperanza Guest

This is Leandro and his mom Natasha. They were at Casa Esperanza for 3 weeks this past June while Leandro was finishing his therapy and preparing to return home to Panama.

This four-year-old boy is a brave one! He is facing several health problems right now, but he is always smiling and happy. He enjoys listening to music and singing along with his mom. I figured out why his favorite cartoon show is Barney, he loves dancing and singing along with the show.

This is his first visit to Shriners Hospital and Casa Esperanza. He had major surgery on his hip and legs. Hopefully, he'll be able to learn how to walk now. Although he will need more surgeries this is the beginning of a great journey to a more fulfilling life.

Leandro is back home in Panama now with his two older brothers and dad. We pray for him and look forward to seeing him again when he returns for more treatment.

Thanks be to God for the blessing of serving these people.

News from "The River"

Big hello to our KHCC Friends from "The River"!

We've been having a great time starting our second year in the K-5th grade Sunday School! We just finished a 3 week rotation learning about Adam and Eve. We had a puppet show, found out what happens when you add vinegar to milk (and then add baking soda?! What happened then?), and crafted each other in clay. We learned that God made us in His image; we all look so different but still have the same parts. God must really like variety! We also learned how sin separated us from God long ago because of Adam but how Jesus came to fix that. Thank you, God, for Jesus!

A “Note” from the KHCC Music Department

ALMOST PERSUADED

No one in the history of gospel music is more revered than Philip P. Bliss, a gifted young musician who died tragically at age thirty-five in a train disaster. Interestingly, just a year before his death, this hymn—which he wrote—had a profound influence in his decision to give himself to fulltime gospel ministry.

Philip, his wife, Lucy, and their two small children lived in Chicago where Philip worked for a publishing company, writing sacred and secular songs. He was considered a rising star on the American music scene. As time allowed, he also volunteered as a soloist and song leader in evangelist meetings.

One day he was assisting a preacher named Rev. Brundage. During the sermon, the evangelist quoted Acts 26:28 and declared, “He who is almost persuaded is almost saved, and to be almost saved is to be entirely lost!” Struck by those words, Phillip penned this hymn “Almost Persuaded.”

Shortly afterward, Phillip received a letter from evangelist D. L. Moody, urging him to “sing the gospel” by becoming a full-time evangelistic song leader. As they prayed over the decision, Phillip and Lucy were understandably cautious, for it would mean the end of a stable, regular income. It would cost Bliss’s career in secular music and entail a nomadic lifestyle of itinerate evangelism. “I am willing,” Lucy wrote, “that Mr. Bliss should do anything that we can be sure is the Lord’s will, and I can trust the Lord to provide for us, but I don’t want him to take such a step simply on Mr. Moody’s will.”

Shortly afterward, evangelist Daniel Whittle requested Phillip’s help with evangelistic rallies in Waukegan, Illinois. The meetings started slowly, but on March 26, 1871, as Phillip sang his new hymn, “Almost Persuaded,” an unusual power swept over the crowd. Lucy wrote, “In different parts of the house, sinners arose as he sang presenting themselves for prayer, and souls that night rejoiced in Christ. Our hearts were very full, and a great responsibility was upon us.”

The next day Phillip made a formal commitment to the Lord to leave all secular concerns and engage himself in full-time ministry. In the year left to him, Philip Bliss exerted a lasting influence on gospel music, singing multitudes into the Kingdom and writing many of the hymns we love today.
